Until money becomes easier in New York the stock market will remain stagtary Situation and the Ven-nant, with a tendency to sag to lower prices. The present condition is no different from what it has been in past years at this particular season, except trol of the situation, and are managing matters with great skill and firmness.

It is estimated the January dividends and interest will amount to about $175,-000,000, and it is to provide for this enormous disbursement that the banks are so carefully nursing their resources. To prevent the shipment of gold aboard it was necessary to raise the rate of interest above normal, and the rating rate has been quoted as 6 per cent for several weeks. The banks will endeavor to keep interest on call loans at that figure, althis morning opened active and feverish. though during the latter part of the A few stocks showed comparative month there may be a flurry. ings against the Osgood faction to compel a recognition of his interests as a stockhelder in the management of the company. So far as the public was informed, the fight was only between these two interests. It appears from the compromise entered into yesterday that there were three interests fighting for the control: The Hawley-Harriman

There is no question about the great value of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. It is true, it is largely undeveloped, but its possibilities are so great, particularly when exploited by Mr. Gates, that he perhaps had little difficulty in selling his large holdings to those now interested at prices much higher than those now quoted. He has been known to indulge in such practices before.

Active features of the early dealings were St. Paul, Union and Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, the Rock Island shares, and Southern Railway. Among the miscellaneous issues, trading was fairly active in Colorado Fuel and Iron, banks are now exacting a commission. the miscellaneous issues, trading was fairly active in Colorado Fuel and Iron, Amalgamated Copper, and Consolidated Gas. The United States Steel shares continued weak, and comparatively little was done in Sugar Refining. People's Gas was comparatively steady. After the opening dealings the trading increased in activity, and the market showed a greater amount of pressure. Expectations that the bank statement at the end of the week would make a very weak showing intensified the uneasiness with respect to the general monetary outlook.
